Sweetness, the first novel in the Bold As Love series by Lindsay Paige, was pretty short, but oh so SWEET! Told from both Emily and Jake's perspectives, this novel was the perfect introduction to Jake and Emily's characters. I learned about their background, their home lives, their fears, and their dreams.

Emily wished she was invisible. But after moving to a new town with her dad, a charming boy makes it impossible for her to disappear. Despite her feelings of unworthiness, Emily soon finds herself drawn to the safety of Jake's world. Good looking and the star of the hockey team, Jake has a lot going for him. What most people don't see is the difficult life he has at home. When quiet Emily steals his heart, Jake vows to help her discover she is worthy of love. Just when the two of them realize the sweetness of their relationship, they are put to the test. Only together can they overcome their haunted pasts to fight for a future together

After breaking off a bad engagement, Stephanie Pink believes achieving her lifelong dream of becoming a literary agent is just the distraction she needs. But how was she to know her career path would take her along the back roads of the Pacific Northwest in a thirdhand RV with mystery man Rhett Hastings?

Bestselling author Michelle Lovric explores the alchemy of human passion in this brilliant anthology of poems and letters by vanished lovers from the ancient Mediterranean. In these new translations by Lovric and young scholar Mardas, 2,000-year-old declarations of love, lust, seduction, sensuality, longing, betrayal, regrets, and undying love are as fresh and relevant as contemporary song lyrics. 90 color illustrations.

Oh Captain, My Captain presents Luca Zotov of the Nebraska Bucks. Luca Zotov has been happily committed to his girlfriend for ten years before he finally takes the next step by proposing. It's always been the two of them and Luca has never wanted that to change, something he's always been clear and adamant about. His world is split into two halves, his girlfriend and hockey, and he's never wanted anything more than that. Hadley Lincoln is happy with Luca by her side and she's never been more sure about anything before in her life. After ten years of loving him, he finally asks for her to marry him. It's something that she always dreamed of until a surprise in their happily ever after appears on an ultrasound monitor, rocking their relationship to the core. Hadley has the faith in Luca, which he lacks in himself, and she tries to help him see that history won't repeat itself. While Luca struggles to overcome a childhood tragedy, Hadley continues to work on getting him to embrace the joys of having a baby on the way.

of inexplicable events: A dead bird is found on the doorstep, a postage stamp bizarrely pinned to its beak. Then, hours later, Flavia finds a man lying in the cucumber patch and watches him as he takes his dying breath. For Flavia, who is both appalled and delighted, life begins in earnest when murder comes to Buckshaw. "I wish I could say I was afraid, but I wasn't. Quite the contrary. This was by far the most interesting thing that had ever happened to me in my entire life."

BONUS: This edition contains a The Sweetness at the Bottom of the Pie discussion guide and an excerpt from Alan Bradley's The Weed That Strings the Hangman's Bag.

We love sweet romance stories like we love truffles and cordials, toffees and caramels - and when they're bathed in a decadent coating of rich, creamy chocolate, they're satisfying, delicious, and we can't stop with just one. LOVE IS LIKE A BOX OF CHOCOLATES presents sixteen stories that capture both the sweetness and variety of a box of chocolates. Ranging from new loves to rekindled attraction, these stories are filled with sweet meet-cutes, nutty quirks, and the unexpected richness hidden beneath the surface of the characters and their developing relationships. And all wound through with ribbons of chocolate. Contains sixteen sweet stories by M. L. Buchman, Katherine L. Evans, Tami Veldura, Cheryl Wright, Adele Downs, Eliza David, Debbie Mumford, Donea Lee Weaver, Jadelynn Asher, Jennie L. Morris, Marianne Bayliss, Meyari McFarland (x2), Michele Dean, Neen Cohen, and Remi Carrington. Edited by Lyn Worthen

Need some Happily Ever After in your day? Grab this collection of six short stories--some sweet, some swoony, some with a little sprinkle of magic . . . and all guaranteed to make you smile! From a Distance - When insomniac Alex hears violinist Ellery play on a nearby rooftop, he's immediately intrigued. He wants to get to know her better, but dating's tricky when you're both in quarantine. Is it possible to get close when you have to stay six feet apart? Stolen Moments - On the eve of her birthday, for as long as she can remember, Allana has dreamed of him. But dreams fade away in the morning light, and she isn't sure if the love of her life is actually a figment of her imagination. Will she give him up or put all her faith in the impossible? It's Just So Molly Ringwald: An 80s Love Story - Jess is a head-banging rocker with a soft spot for romantic movies. Brandon is a preppy jock with a soft spot for Jess. They come from two different worlds, but can they overcome the clash of cliques and take a chance on love? A Piece of Cake - Emily is a matchmaker who doesn't believe in love. Sam is a swoony cake designer who pops up as a match for her latest client. When practical, professional Emily develops a not-so-practical or professional crush on Sam, she has to decide if the magic of true love is worth risking her heart. A Chance for Love - When Avery meets TV star Chance Evans, she's thrilled to meet him, get an autograph, and move on. But when Chance reaches out for more, she's not sure what to do. With paparazzi, crazy fans, and a not-so-little age gap, a happy ending for these unlikely lovers will take a leap of faith. Unscheduled Departure – Rowan is devastated when her boyfriend, Finn, tells her he’s moving across the country to take over the family business, and thrilled when he changes his mind at the last minute and gets off the plane. But things get weird, and it’s not long before Ro’s questioning if Finn’s really who she thinks he is. Is she imagining things? Or are other forces at work that mean Ro could lose her Finn forever?

A bold new indictment of the racialization of science Decades of data cannot be ignored: African American adults are far more likely to develop Type 2 diabetes than white adults. But has science gone so far in racializing diabetes as to undermine the search for solutions? In a rousing indictment of the idea that notions of biological race should drive scientific inquiry, Sweetness in the Blood provides an ethnographic picture of biotechnology’s framings of Type 2 diabetes risk and race and, importantly, offers a critical examination of the assumptions behind the recruitment of African American and African-descent populations for Type 2 diabetes research. James Doucet-Battle begins with a historical overview of how diabetes has been researched and framed racially over the past century, chronicling one company’s efforts to recruit African Americans to test their new diabetes risk-score algorithm with the aim of increasing the clinical and market value of the firm’s technology. He considers African American reticence about participation in biomedical research and examines race and health disparities in light of advances in genomic sequencing technology. Doucet-Battle concludes by emphasizing that genomic research into sub-Saharan ancestry in fact underlines the importance of analyzing gender before attempting to understand the notion of race. No disease reveals this more than Type 2 diabetes. Sweetness in the Blood challenges the notion that the best approach to understanding, managing, and curing Type 2 diabetes is through the lens of race. It also transforms how we think about sugar, filling a neglected gap between the sugar- and molasses-sweetened past of the enslaved African laborer and the high-fructose corn syrup- and corporate-fed body of the contemporary consumer-laborer.
